SECTION II – COPYRIGHT LICENSE

(NOTE: Do not substitute institutional or other forms for this form.)

A. The undersigned, desiring to publish the above manuscript through the Office of Teaching Resources in Psychology (OTRP) of the Society for the Teaching of Psychology, Division 2 of the American Psychological Association (APA), hereby grants to the Society on behalf of all authors, for four (4) year, non-exclusive, non-terminable for the first 4 years, royalty-free right, renewable for successive 4-year terms automatically at the Society's discretion unless the author notifies the Society in writing that the manuscript is to be withdrawn, to:

1. reproduce, publish, display, and distribute the above manuscript, or any part thereof, in such medium and such other media or forms of communication, including, without limitation, print or electronic copies in any form, and in any language, throughout the world as the Society may elect from time to time, whether individually or as part of one or more compilations, and to reprint or republish as desired. The Society may impose reasonable fees for distribution of any such items and may elect, in its sole discretion, not to publish or to withdraw from publication all or any part of such manuscript or derivatives thereof; and
2. sublicense any or all of the above rights to others, including, without limitation, members of the public who access the Society's electronic information services or otherwise obtain the Society's publications.

The Society acknowledges and agrees that author and/or the employers for whom the work was performed:

1. retain all proprietary rights other than those the author grants here, such as remaining copyright and patent rights associated with the above manuscript;
2. may reproduce, or have reproduced, the above manuscript in its published form for the author's personal use or for institutional use, provided that (a) the source and Society's role as publisher are indicated, (b) the copies are not used in a way that implies Society or APA endorsement of a product or service or any employer, and (c) the copies per se are not offered for sale;
3. may make limited distribution of all or portions of the above manuscript prior to publication by the Society; and .
4. prepare derivative works based on the above manuscript and claim copyright in such derivative works.

Through signature below, the undersigned author (1) signifies acceptance of the terms and conditions listed above, (2) affirms that written permission has been obtained for all previously published and/or copyrighted material contained in this manuscript, and (3) affirms that he/she is empowered to sign this form on behalf of all authors.

CORRESPONDING AUTHOR: Proceed to Sections II-B and II-C.

B. Work Created Within the Scope of Employment

If your manuscript was prepared as a part of your job, the rights to your manuscript initially rest with your employer; therefore, the following section must be signed by an authorized agent of your employer.

Employer's representative signs here (in addition to author signing above).

Name of employer for whom work was performed

C. Government Employee Certification: Certifies work is in the public domain.

Authors who are U.S. Government employees are not required to sign Part B of the publication rights form, but any co-authors outside the Government are required to sign Part B. However, if the majority of the authors or the primary authors are U.S. Government employees and the work was done as a part of their job, then the primary author should sign Part C of the publication rights form.

(If your work was performed under Government contract but you are not a Government employee, do not sign below.)

I certify that the majority of the authors or the primary authors of the above manuscript are employees of the U.S. Government and performed this work as part of their employment and that the paper is therefore not subject to U.S. copyright protection.
